

Alumni Officers

Mathew Samson and Spencer Brennan

The new alumni officer position offers many exciting opportunities. We - Mathew Samson (MCR President 2014/15) and Spencer Brennan (MCR Vice President 2014/15) - have seen firsthand how important positive relations with both College and the alumni are for the flourishing of the MCR. For example, through increased interactions between the MCR and alumni we can increase access to professional networking opportunities, petition for specific donations to the MCR and, most importantly, enhance the feelings of intergenerationality that have kept the Trinity Hall community so vibrant for so long. Further, the Alumni and Development Office also offers another great outlet through which which the MCR can communicate with other key stakeholders in College, like the fellowship and Bursary, on matters that are of mutual interest.

To these ends, we hope to extend more invitations for alumni to attend and interact with MCR members at grad and formal halls. We're also finalising the protocols for a web-based initiative that features the academic and extracurricular work of current and recently graduated members of the MCR community, which we hope to showcase to both the Alumni and the wider world. Among further initiatives, we'll also continue both the Vidi Vici Vivam Award for graduating PhDs, and the circulation of Trinity Hall goodybags to all graduating members of the MCR.
